

Ask Me About

Week of 10/15

- My Reading Super Powers!! Ask me to show you my “Pointer Power”, “Picture Power” and “Rereading Power”!
- I use these powers to read. I can really read!
- How I write like a scientist. I know that I have to look and then look again to notice the small details that scientists notice. I can include these details in my writing.
- What is addition? I learned that you can add to a group (There were 3 apples in a bucket and I put in 2 more) or I can put together groups of objects (2 kids are sitting in chairs, 4 kids are sitting on the rug. How many kids are sitting all together?)
- The Book Fair! We had so much fun looking through all of those cool books! Everyone who purchased books was so kind to share them with all of us.

**Our sight words so far are: a, I, like, see, the and my. Try finding those words in books around the house.

**We are learning how to form the letters a and g. These can be tricky. Try writing them and remind them to start at the “plane line” and curve back and around to the grass line then back up to the start before heading back down again.

**Don’t forget! Wed and Thurs of next week are 1/2 days for Parent Conferences. I’m really looking forward to meeting with all of you!
